

Chicken Scratch Books

Boy With a Fife: Ebenezer Fletcher's War of Independence

Ebenezer Fletcher was a real person, and his Revolutionary War experiences really happened. It's fascinating to see how far he marched with the militia and with the army when he was drafted. Can you identify the places on this map of colonial New England that Eb describes in the story? Draw a line from the place name on the left to the correct star on the map.

- New Ipswich, NH where Eb lived and worked
- The Battles at Lexington and Concord, MA that caused the first alarm for Eb
- The Battle of Bunker Hill where Eb served in the hospital
- Fort Ticonderoga where Eb helped build the neighboring hospital
- The Battle of Hubbardton, VT where Eb was wounded
- Clarendon, NH where Eb healed after his escape

